

MATH FACT FLUENCY STICKS

Math fact fluency sticks are a developmentally appropriate, low stress, and low maintenance way to differentiate the content that students need to learn and master their multiplication and division facts. The flashcards for these fluency sticks are provided in this resource. The math problems are available in both vertical and horizontal form. If you have rulers and rings, you are good to go! This resource also includes Avery labels for your fluency sticks. These include: Not Yet, Progressing, and Achieved. Each student gets their own math fact fluency stick and it gets stored in his/her fluency folder.

FLUENCY FOLDERS

Folders are great for storing the fluency sticks, tracking sheets, parent letter, and extra flashcards. The math fact fluency folder cover is provided in this file.

TRACKING SHEETS

Multiplication and division tracking sheets are available. Both sets comes in facts up to 9, 10, and 12 to meet your students' needs. These tracking sheets are very visual and meant to be used by the students. Students are responsible for tracking their math facts that they master. This resource explains how this can be done easily and effectively.

BENCHMARKS

Math Fact Fluency Benchmark sheets are available in this resource. These are nice to hang up behind your desk, put in a math intervention folder, or have as a reference at parent teacher conferences.

PARENT LETTERS

Parent letters are also part of this resource. The letter explains the benchmarks as well as how the fluency sticks can be implemented at home.
